INTRODUCTION

Xi on the 12th at a meeting of the National People's Congress pointed out in his speech, "The China dream in the final analysis is the dream of the people, must therefore rely firmly on the people, must constantly benefit for the people". Concise and profound implicate interpretation: The core values of the Chinese Dream is people's happiness! The core value depends on people's happiness in order to realize China Dream laid the foundation, has brought together the Chinese strength, establish the development path and pointed out the value pursuit of.

1. THE PEOPLE'S HAPPINESS LAID THE MASS FOUNDATION TO REALIZE CHINESE DREAM

1.1 People's Happiness to Make People's Hope

Historical materialism thinks that, the people are the creator of the material wealth and spiritual wealth, it is to change society, push forward historical decision power. Win the people, it is to win. Win the people, it is to win the future. No matter how great, as long as out of people that is like the ancient Greek Hercules, like Antaeus leave earth, there is no effect, and ultimately defeated and killed. Mao Zedong pointed out that, "Why revolution? In order to make the liberation of the Chinese nation, in order to realize the rule of the people, in order to make the economic happiness of the people." (Mao Zedong collected works [Vol.1], 1993, p.21) The communist party of China is holding seeks happiness for the people, arouse people's life in the pursuit of happiness, so the people see the hope of happiness, the Chinese revolution, construction and reform and opening up was remarkable. People want to belong to a positive and healthy mental activity trend, reflecting the vision of a better life for the future, it can wake people dream of potential, full of people dormant vitality, stimulate people's enthusiasm, initiative and creativity, people with aggressive, up power engaged in social practice. Adhere to people's happiness is the Chinese Dream of core values, not only further promote the value of a new era of materialism, but also make people more clear the Chinese Dream is a real dream, it is through their own efforts can achieve a dream, It is closely associated with each individual dreams. In this vision of domination, hopefully, to join in the great practice of the Chinese characteristic socialism, promote national prosperity and national rejuvenation and people's happiness of the Chinese Dream forward.

1.2 People's Happiness to Makes People Full of Confidence

In the vast history of the Chinese nation created a splendid culture and long history of civilization, that the Chinese nation is a "confidence in three hundred, life be beat three miles". Even in the dark's, the Chinese nation will has always been full of confidence and success in the future; confidence can have a happy life in the coming years.

Adhere to the people's happiness for the core values of the Chinese Dream, it is from roots confidence with Chinese profound cultural foundation and content to enhance their own survival and development situation of life will, in the new period of development for the people to set new targets, stimulate the potential of the people to realize Chinese Dream and enthusiasm, and further enhance the confidence of the people's pursuit of happiness life, keep the country rich and strong (powerful), national development and people's happiness to a new height.

Adhere to people's happiness for the core values of the Chinese Dream can make people full of confidence, is the Chinese Dream can give the people increasingly rich material and spiritual and cultural achievements, can improve fully free comprehensive development lay a solid foundation. People's happiness as Chinese Dream core values can make people full of confidence, is rooted in the people can get benefits. People are always based on the pursuit and struggle of interests, Marx said, "as we all know, there is a psychology of a small special reasons to explain the big things. It correctly guessed all the people fought, all with their stakeholders." (Marx & Engels, 1995, p.187) Communist Party of China's revolution, construction and reform and opening practice activities make people happy constantly improved, therefore, the people's well-being as the core value of the Chinese Dream, will make people confident.

1.3 People's Happiness Makes People's Wholehearted Support

People is the main power to make history, and is in the success of all the projects of the Communist Party of China mainly depend on power, the Chinese Dream must rely on the people to dream a dream come true and to benefit the people. Adhere to people's happiness as the core values of the Chinese Dream, reflecting the people creating history, to promote social development status and role, highlighting the history of the ownership of the people. Respect for the people, the historical position of the main historical development, not only to clear the question of whom to rely on historical development, but also to clear the fruit of historical development attributed to whom. China must rely on the people to realize the Chinese Dream, the fruit of the Chinese dream no doubt must also be attributed to the people, only that could reflect people's first historical position and carry out the tenet of serving the people heart and soul, the people's happiness as the core values of the Chinese Dream, it is reflected the people's supreme high degree of unity and serve the people. Mao Zedong in "After the Victory of Anti-Japanese War Situation and Our Policy" said, "Comrades victory is the people's bloodshed and sacrifice to come, the victory of the Anti-Japanese War should be the victory of the people, the fruits of the Anti-Japanese War should belong to the people." (Mao, 1991, p.1129) The new central collective leadership put forward the "the Chinese Dream", the people's happiness as its core values, reflected in the hearts of the people think, benefits for the people of the ruling consciousness and it will get the wholehearted support of the people.

2. THE PEOPLE'S HAPPINESS IN ORDER TO REALIZE CHINESE DREAM BROUGHT TOGETHER CHINESE POWER

2.1 The People's Happiness Is the Goal of the Chinese Nation

The happiness of the people is the human dream goal. Hall Bach said, "Essentially the love themselves, is willing to save themselves, trying to make their own living happiness; So, interests or for all the action of the desire to happiness is the only motivation." (Zhou, 1996, p.75) Bentham, the founder of utilitarianism ethics said that "the greatest happiness of most people," as the norm of all human behavior and measure all the basic ethical principles of human behavior standards of good and evil. The founders of Marxism is based on human social productive forces of a country to break the trend of globalization limitations, the vast majority of people in the real scientific analysis of the survival and development of the alienation of the situation, clarify the happiness of each individual liberty full and comprehensive development is the ultimate goal of human development. People's happiness is not limited to a strong material foundation also should have a rich spiritual culture and enjoy more opportunities. To the happiness of the people as the core value of Chinese Dream, it insisted the people are the main social and historical development of historical materialism, but also makes it clear to the people's happiness as the national prosperity and national rejuvenation destination, highlights the Chinese communist party to inherit and carry forward the Chinese nation excellent people-oriented thoughts of political character, embodies the “quickens, ruling for the people” of the communist party of China political point. From the history of human society and the history of socialist development, the people's happiness is the primary stage of socialism to achieve the ultimate goal of human well-milestones and the only way, reflects the Communist Party of China will unswervingly uphold the Marxist historical materialism, adhere to the development relying on the people, development for the people governing philosophy and development of roads, the fruits of development shared by the people.

2.2 The People's Happiness Is Shared Vision of All Chinese People

Since the birth of human society from the country, the state is closely related to the vicissitudes of peoples and individuals. Community countries form an abstract touch national development situation and human development. Rich, strong, the country strong, “people are the foundation, the solid Bunning” and this thought such as the comprehensive reveals as close as lips and teeth, the other is in danger of the relationship between the state and the people. In the modern political society, the daily life of the national pension, medical, employment and other living conditions, to enjoy education degree, scientific and cultural quality, the future development trend of all with man as a biological and social factors, not only relates to the national stability and security, and is related to national image promotion, relationship to the ascension of national soft power, and relationship to the international voice, directly affect the a country in the position and role in the international arena. Therefore, to improve people's livelihood, improve people's material life and cultural level, improve the well-being of the people, has become the world's ruling political mission. As Marx said: “The people to be able to ‘make history’, must be able to live, but to live, first of all need to eat and drink and live through a few other things.” (Marx & Engels, 1995, p.79) Communist Party of China in the new historical period of development, proposed national prosperity and revitalization of the Chinese people a happy dream, uphold the people's happiness is the concept of the core values of the Chinese Dream, not only represents the aspirations of Chinese people on the mainland, but also on behalf of all the Chinese people together desire. Long-term living abroad, overseas compatriots, fellow citizens, they not only focus on the development and changes of the motherland, they also want to see the motherland prosperous and strong, to see all of the people of domestic and overseas, the overseas Chinese, Hong Kong and Macao compatriots can live a happy life. Therefore, the Chinese Dream to make people happy as a core value, not only to unite the people of all the country's forces forge ahead in unity, but also the patriotic forces of all Chinese people gathering together become a strong driving force to promote the realization of the Chinese dream together.

2.3 The People's Happiness Is the Fundamental Scale of National Rejuvenation

National rejuvenation is a dynamic development context, the people are the main body of the Chinese nation, is the main force of historical development. Measure whether the rejuvenation not only to stand among the peoples of the world as the scale, but also to people's happiness as the fundamental yardstick rejuvenation. Because the people is the main body of social and historical development, they made history the enthusiasm, initiative and creativity of affecting the pace of national rejuvenation. Marx pointed out: “Historical activity is the cause of the masses, with the deepening of historical events, will be to expand the team.” (Marx & Engels, 1995, p.104) The ranks of the masses of growing, on the one hand, need to gather the value orientation of social consensus for maximum lead, on the one hand, need to take into consideration the people make history for material culture and spiritual and cultural needs, improve the quality of survival and development, improve the people's happiness. After all, history has shown, “and the horse run, and horses don't eat grass” thought is wrong. To achieve national prosperity and rejuvenation, the people's happiness Chinese Dream, relying on the people, but the national prosperity and rejuvenation must benefit the people, only then can ensure the Chinese Dream has wide solid mass base.

The basis of national prosperity and rejuvenation, therefore, is to the happiness of the people, the people rich is not rich, luckily not happiness is fundamental to consider whether the Chinese Dream realizes scale. The people as a historical drama author and dramatis personae, its survival and development related to the situation of national harmony and stability, national unity and social. The happiness of the people as a core value of China's dream to the people happiness as the fundamental scale revitalization of the nation, not only embodies the people's creative history of dominance, and safeguard the fundamental interests of the people. The Chinese dream as a new endeavor horn, in essence, is a further representative of the Chinese Communist Party in the new era will and interests of the people's basic reflection, but also for the future path of the new era of assertiveness. Jiang Zemin pointed out that: “Our party from the people, rooted in the people, serve the people. starting point and building socialism with Chinese characteristics in all our work is to serve the interests of the people.” (Jiang, 2006, p.45) For the benefit of the people, the purpose is to enhance people's happiness, is not only the inevitable requirement of historical materialism in practice, but also the fundamental scale to measure the revitalization of the Chinese nation.

3. THE PEOPLE'S HAPPINESS IN ORDER TO REALIZE CHINESE DREAM TO ESTABLISH THE DEVELOPMENT PATH

3.1 The People's Happiness Must Adhere to the "One Center, Two Basic Points"

Taking economic construction as the center is the source of the rich, Four Cardinal Principles are the foundation, reform and opening up is the path to power, the basis of the people's happiness must have strong economic strength, must have the overall situation of stable solidarity as guarantee, must be supported with tolerance and enterprising spirit. People's happiness, though in different stages of development in different periods have different connotation and targets, but people's happiness is not a dream, on this side but the ideal of the world, it needs the right route of economic, political route, the route of reform and opening up as a guarantee. The history of Chinese revolution, construction and reform and opening up process to prove: Left route and right route is the ends of the people's happiness. "One center and two basic points" is a scientific summary of revolution, construction and reform and opening experience in China, other countries in the world that systematically summarizes the results of the success or failure of development, is a realistic route. Therefore, it is the lifeline of the people's happiness. Only the people's happiness through practice "one center, two basic points" in the process of basic line, to make people happy with the continuous development of practice and improve.

3.2 The People's Happiness Must Adhere to the "Five-In-One" Coordinated Development

Happiness is a mental activity subject to survival situation and trends. But happiness is not purely subjective feelings, but need for all kinds of object and subject attribute and its value has a lot to do. People's happiness need solid material foundation for security, poverty is not socialism, the lack of material is not happy, Engels pointed out:

People must first be to eat, drink, live and wear, and then engaged in politics, science, art, religion and so on; so, direct material means of subsistence production, to a nation or a certain stage of economic development of The Times, constitute the foundation, the national facilities, law point of view, art and religion, is developed from the basis. (Marx & Engels, 2009, p.601)

People's happiness, therefore, it is necessary to develop the social productivity, unceasingly to meet people's growing material and cultural needs; Efforts to prosperity, scientific and cultural knowledge, and constantly improve people's cultural quality, promote scientific literacy, in order to realize China's dream training high-caliber human resources; Continuously reform the mechanism of restricting China's economic and social development system, to promote social development and human development to create a good condition; Goes further to carry out the scientific concept of development, to coordinate a good man and nature, the balanced development of regional balanced development, the relationship between economic development and ecological protection. To do economic development, prosperous in the culture, political correctness, social harmony, ecological civilization, to ensure the quality of people's happiness connotation and improve constantly. Resolutely put an end to happiness only material wealth of misconceptions, adhere to the "five-in-one" coordinated development, sets up the happiness needs both solid material wealth, need more democracy to ensure social fairness and justice, need more advanced culture in order to lead people's moral quality, need more social harmony to ease the contradiction dispute, more in need of ecological civilization in order to keep sustainable development. Adhere to the "five-in-one" coordinated development, clarify the connotation of the people's happiness and development direction, embodies the standards and requirements of the people's happiness of time spirit, accords with the basic law of the development of human society, pregnant with the people's happiness is a with era pace, closely related to the dynamic process of times, to follow the trend of The Times.

3.3 The People's Happiness Must Be Based on Common Prosperity and Harmonious Development

Common prosperity serves as an important essence of socialism, the goal of China's construction of socialist characteristics and the target to realize the Chinese Dream; the harmonious development is the basic requirements of social development, the important guarantee of the people's live and work, and the steady strategy to ensure people's happiness. Facts have proved that: China has entered a crucial period of reform and opening up and concurrency of social conflicts, unequal opportunities and unsolved reasonable demands in income, employment, health care, housing leading to various social resentment, hostility, and then cause great challenges and risks for the harmonious development of society and people's happy life. Adhere to common prosperity and harmonious development and enhance people's happiness, we must focus on the emancipation and development of socialist productive forces, and always uphold the scientific ideas of 'science and technology are primary productive forces' and break the bounds of various old concepts to products that meet the people's material and cultural requirements, continue to resolve the contradiction between the growing people's material and cultural needs between backward social production force to enhance the material and cultural foundation of people's wellbeing; We should efforts to eliminate exploitation and polarization, to narrow the income gap and promote social equity, to strengthen social protection mechanisms to effectively solve the people's housing, health, education, pension and other issues, to build a happy life for people and to ensure social harmony; We should commitment to promote harmonious development between urban and rural, regional, economic and social, human and nature, domestic development and reform and opening up, the strategic "the two big picture" initiatives to promote the interactive development of the three regions, to promote the complementary advantages, the formation of mutual promotion and common development the strategic situation, and urged people in young and old edge hill area and to be developed areas live a happy life as soon as possible .

4. THE PEOPLE'S HAPPINESS POINT OUT THE VALUE OF THE PURSUIT TO REALIZE CHINESE DREAM

4.1 The People's Happiness Depends on the Prosperity of the Country

Wealthy country has carefree, strong country has unperturbed. National prosperity and happiness of the people is to maintain an impregnable fortress, it is to enhance people's happiness engines. Semi-feudal society in China, the territory was occupied, sovereignty is divided, the Chinese people have labeled the "sick man of Asia" hat, much exploited in the economy, much insulted the personality, painful, and here is no happiness at all. Rooted in semi-feudal society of China is an authoritarian and poor and weak country in the international arena there is no influence and national voice, the lack of protection of their national's courage and ability. Mirroring in history, we must focus on building comprehensive national strength in the economy and technology as the core, adhere to the strategy of peaceful rise on the basis, in major initiatives through science and technology as a powerful development of modern defense forces, to safeguard national sovereignty and territorial integrity, to serve enhance the international image of the country and compete for the right to speak, to the confident attitude of its rich connotation of Chinese Dream, to effectively promote and enhance the happiness of the people to build a solid wall.

4.2 The People's Happiness Depends on the National Promotion

Rejuvenation and hard and soft power nation enhanced heavy explicit, is an important premise of standing among the peoples of the world, is to ensure that people's happiness important line of defense. Nation as the history of formation of a common language, common geography, common economic life and relatively stable cultural psychology, can cause people to produce strong and rich psychological identity and sense of belonging. With the development of productivity, nationalization, frequent cultural communication and social mobility trend to accelerate, national common language, common geography, common economic life growing weaker, but the common cultural psychology of still decided to natural attribute and social attribute of individuals belonging to a particular nation, determines the individual survival, development and the revitalization of happiness depends on the ethnic groups. Rejuvenation is involved in the national economy and national dignity, national history and culture, national development, national factors such as the complex international status, the unified happiness is closely related with the objective conditions, is the source of people's happiness and guarantee. History has proven that, weak countries and national people are not only no happiness, and even the most basic survival problem cannot be solved. But country rich and strong national promotion can improve not only the pride of the people, and can improve the centripetal force and cohesion of the people. The stronger the centripetal force and cohesion of nation, the stronger the ability of resisting foreign, are better able to portray the external image of the country and people, to show a good image. Happiness is closely related to various conditions and human survival and development are not only required, but also with the psychological ownership is closely related to the overall quality of affiliated groups. In general, the higher the quality of the individual ethnic groups belongs, they have the better image and the stronger personal happiness. Children of all nationalities of the Chinese nation in the long-term revolution, construction and reform and opening to the outside of the condensed the entrenched deep friendship, formed the national spirit with patriotism as the core, to enhance the confidence and pride of the Chinese nation, and have been able to bold and confident image stands among the peoples of the world, won the love and respect of the rest of the world people. Adhere to people's happiness as the core value of Chinese Dream, must unwaveringly adhere to and earnestly implement the national equality, national unity and common prosperity of various nationalities national policy, improve the system of regional national autonomy, improve people's level of economic development in national regions and political status, promote the national culture prosperity, national revitalization in order to promote people's happiness.

4.3 The People's Happiness Is the Ultimate Value of the Chinese Dream

Change people living circumstances and the development trend of alienation, promote person's happiness, and to realize man's all-round development is a consistent pursuit of Marxism, socialism with Chinese characteristics is of the goal, is the ultimate value of the Chinese Dream.

Serving the people wholeheartedly is the purpose of the communist party of China is always the same, “quickens, ruling for the people” is the party in the new era of the fundamental value of a pointer of ruling and governance, is the party inspection party line policies value scale. China dream as a national prosperity and rejuvenation, the people’s happiness concise expression, logically the people’s happiness as the logic of the Chinese Dream ends and value orientation, illustrate the ultimate goal of the Chinese dream is people’s happiness, and pointed out the people’s happiness is the ultimate value of the Chinese Dream, the people’s happiness as a carry forward the spirit of China and condense the highest value in China’s power requirements, reflects the people’s supreme historical materialism. People’s happiness involves human dignity and value, the practical problems such as the survival and development. Insist on the core value of the Chinese Dream of happiness, must be committed to eliminate social injustice, rooting out corruption and maintain social harmony and happiness for the people. Must pay attention to the collection and analysis of the people, public opinion, leading public opinion trends and healthy development of the people’s grievances and defuse hostility, vigorously promote social justice, to create a good atmosphere for public opinion, ensure that people’s happiness dream can take root and improve the Chinese Dream of convincing and appealing.

CONCLUSION

People’s happiness is the fundamental pursuit of the Communist Party of China, also is the Communist Party of China leads the people to realize the value of the Chinese Dream. The target of the people’s happiness, It can lay the foundation for the great rejuvenation of broad masses in Chinese nation, unite the largest Chinese power and determine the road of scientific development, achieve the best value pursuit, Truly achieve national dream, national dream, an organic unity of people’s dreams, to achieve a comprehensive rejuvenation of Chinese nation.
